Fun Fact: World Bicycle Day was officially declared by the United Nations General Assembly in April 2018, following a campaign by Leszek Sibilski, a professor and cycling activist, and his sociology class. The day was adopted to acknowledge the uniqueness, longevity, and versatility of the bicycle, which has been in use for over two centuries. World Bicycle Day not only celebrates cycling as a physical activity but also recognizes the bicycle as a tool for development, a source of access to education and healthcare, and a promoter of environmental stewardship.
