Fun Fact: Girl Scout were first sold by Girl Scouts as early as 1917, just five years after the organization was founded. These homemade cookies were initially baked by the scouts themselves in their kitchens and sold door to door to fund troop activities. This humble beginning has since grown into a highly anticipated annual event, with millions of boxes sold every year, making Girl Scout Cookie sales a major fundraiser that supports a variety of empowering programs and activities for Girl Scouts across the United States.
